ROBERT IRVINE FOUNDATION AND FITCRUNCH PROVIDES FREEDOM MOBILITY 6X6 ALL-TERRAIN POWER WHEELCHAIR TO LONG ISLAND VETERAN

WHAT: In partnership with the Robert Irvine Foundation, Food Network host, entrepreneur and military and veteran advocate, Robert Irvine and his protein snack company, FITCRUNCH, is providing a local military hero with an all-terrain power wheelchair. This power wheelchair will allow Iraq War Veteran, U.S. Army Corporal Chris Levi the ability to partake in outdoors activities such as going to the beach, hiking, fishing, archery, among other hobbies of his, that he has been unable to partake in since injured in the line of duty in Iraq in 2008 when his Humvee was hit by an improvised explosive device (IED) with the blast cutting through both of his legs at mid-thigh, leaving him a bilateral amputee along with damage to his right hand and arm. Chris Levi and his fiancé, Jenn Ryan, both Long Island residents are active in their local community and Chris will be donating his current track-chair to Skudin Surf, a surf school for disabled children in Long Beach, NY.

About the Robert Irvine Foundation

The Robert Irvine Foundation is established by chef, entrepreneur and TV personality Robert Irvine. The Foundation's primary focus is giving-back and servicing the men and women defending our country, first responders and the many other heroes in our lives (active, retired, and veterans). We strive to create awareness throughout the community about the sacrifices made by our military personnel, first responders, and their families, and inspiring community support for the men and women defending our freedom.
